"What's that under my bed?", shouted mum!

What's that under my bed?", shouted mum as she ran out of her bedroom. The boy jumped into his mum's room, wondering why his mum was shouting. He was curious and started crawling under his mum's bed. At first, he saw a faint light, that became brighter and brighter. The light was sucking him in, he wondered what it could be...then he thought, could this be a portal? He was right! As he climbed in, he felt frightened but also excited, not knowing what he would find. At the end of a long tunnel, there was an old, wooden door. He slowly opened the door and he couldn't believe his eyes. He was in his school, but his school looked very old.

He walked around his school and then he realised that he had travelled back in time. There were no computers and no whiteboards, just old wooden desks and blackboards. He walked into his old classroom. Mrs McIlroy was not there. His friends were not there. In front of him sat 13 young boys and girls. They stared at him, wondering who he was. One of the children walked towards him. He looked friendly and kind. He asked him "what are you doing here?" The boy answered nervously "I don't know, I'm lost". The child looked very puzzled and asked "how did you get here". The boy answered, "I travelled through a portal, I am scared, can you help me get back home?" The child looked at him strangely and said "don't be scared, maybe if you climb back through the portal, you will get back home".

Quickly, the boy ran back towards the portal, waving goodbye to his new friend. He opened the old wooden door again and went back through the tunnel. Within seconds he was back home again(under his mum's bed). He felt very relieved and happy to be back home!

Never again would he climb under his mum's bed!

Beautiful Bees
By Cameron Dolan

Bees are fascinating Mini Beasts! My favourite fact about bees is how bees make their hives.

Bees have 4 wings and make Honey they also are a great help to the environment by helping flowers produce oxygen and pollination.

They also make yummy treats for example honeycomb, which is made out of their hives, all right that's enough about what they make so lets do more about bees!

Bees are flying insects which are closely related to wasps and ants.

There are 16,000 species of bees.
